Let's get to know our JCS teachers This month—Christie Miller Gosch

Many of you know Christie as the Jewish Cultural School teacher for K-2nd. This is Christie's 4th year teaching for Beth Ami JCS and the fall session has started out with a bang including lots of holiday celebrations and delving into the subject of Justice. She is also continuing to support JCS to compost and recycle – yep, she's the one who is always letting you know what can and can not go into the compost bag.

When Christie isn't teaching at JCS, she is a busy mom of two (Macy and Noah) who owns her own graphic/web design business and is a featured writer for 30 Second Mom, a new website for mobile moms on the go! Her tag line is that she works from home, but is never there.

You can learn more about Christie at www.cgoschdesign.com and read her tips for busy women and moms at www.30secondmom.com.

Beth Ami is a welcoming community where we connect to Jewish past, celebrate Jewish present and link to Jewish future through a humanistic philosophy

Beth Ami means: House of my people

Community Service Month

The Society for Humanistic Judaism has designated the Hebrew month of Heshvan (October 29-November 26, 2011) as Community Service Month, a month when all of our affiliates can participate in a service project. The entire global Jewish community has designated the month of Heshvan as Jewish Social Action month.

In October, Beth Ami participated in a Service Learning Toolbox workshop sponsored by 18 Pomegranates in Boulder. Repair the World, a national organization supporting Tikkun Olam, led the workshop to assist local educators to develop models for service learning opportunities in Boulder. Gerrie Karasik Adult Ed, Marti Hirsch Upper El teacher, Katya Hirsch and Julia Litz preschool teachers, and Lenore Kingston, Jewish Cultural School Director, represented Beth Ami.

Beth Ami continues to support Jewish Family Service Weinberg Pantry at each Jewish Cultural School session and holiday program. We are participating in Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF and will celebrate JCS students' efforts to collect tzedakah on Halloween.

Sukkot at Beth Ami—submitted by Lenore Kingston

Building the Sukkah

Sukkot is one of three times each year that our ancestors journeyed to Jerusalem to make harvest offerings at the Temple. Obviously there were no motels. Instead they built temporary dwellings, sukkahs to stay in.

After the sukkah was built, we listened to the story Stone Soup. In this classic story some hungry people come to a small village and say they can cook a wonderful soup with a stone. All they need is a large pot and a little help from the villagers. On Sunday, JCS and Adult Ed cooked a delicious vegetable soup with a stone from Marti's mother. Each family brought an item for the soup. We learned the importance of sharing and working together to make a difference

Save the date— Beth Ami Adult Ed is going to the theatre (with discussion to follow)

Two Things You Don't Talk About at Dinner.

Miriam's Passover Seder, a multicultural mix of family and friends, threatens to explode as politics and religion hijack the conversation, severely testing the ties that bind. Is peace possible—even at the dinner table?

Beth Ami will be attending the performance at 3:30 on Feb. 12th at The Denver Center for the Performing Arts. Although individual ticket prices are $47; we have been offered a group discount. The group price will be determined once we know how many will attend (about $36). Kindly RSVP soon so that Laura can negotiate the group discount for us at: laura.m.1520@gmail.com

Augustine and the Jews—CU Boulder

Paula Fredriksen Speaks at CU Boulder About Augustine and the Jews:
Thursday, November 3 @ 7PM University Memorial Center Rm. 235
The Program in Jewish Studies at CU together with the Festival of Books and Culture at the Boulder JCC, Iiff School of Theology and the Center for Judaic Studies at the University of Denver welcome noted author, scholar and historian Paula Fredriksen to Boulder. Her latest book, Augustine and the Jews: A Christian De- fense of Jews and Judaism, draws upon the life, times and thought of Augustine of Hippo (396-430). Augustine's theological innovation survived the collapse of the Western Roman Empire, and it ultimately served to protect Jewish lives again the brutality of medieval crusades.

The event is free and open to the public but RSVPs are appreciated.

Nicholas.Underwood@colorado.edu or call 303.492.7143. Books will be available for purchase and signing after the lecture.

JAAMM—Continues through Nov 3rd

JAAMM Festival (Jewish Arts, Authors, Movies and Music Festival) is a unique celebration of Jewish life and culture that reaches out to the Jewish community and the community at large. This annual fall festival combines the longstanding Leah Cohen Festival of Jewish Books and Authors (a book sale, personal appearances by authors of international prominence and a Denver Jewish Community Reads program), with dynamic concerts ranging from jazz to classical, contemporary films on a variety of topics, an educational art workshop, an art exhibit and theatre events to create a world-class, multidisciplinary Jewish cultural celebration.
